Defense Support to Civilian Law Enforcement Agencies (DSCLEA)

DSCLEA (1 of 2)

- ❑ DoDI 3025.21, February 27, 2013
- ❑ Enclosure 5 Domestic EOD Support of Civilian Law Enforcement Agencies
 - DoD personnel will not participate in search and seizure of ordnance as part of a civilian law enforcement investigation. DoD personnel may render safe military munitions and take possession of military munitions for appropriate disposition at the request of civilian law enforcement officials when such military munitions have already been discovered and seized by civilian law enforcement personnel.
 - DoD officials may provide EOD and explosive detection dog support to local civil authorities to save lives, prevent human suffering, and mitigate great property damage under imminently serious conditions.
 - Such an immediate response may include actions to provide advice and assistance to civil authorities, when requested, in the mitigation, rendering safe, and disposition of suspected or detected presence of unexploded ordnance, damaged or deteriorated explosives or munitions, an IED, other potentially explosive material or device, or other potentially harmful military chemical munitions or device, that creates an actual or potential imminent threat.

DSCLEA (2 of 2)

❑ Enclosure 5 Domestic EOD Support of Civilian Law Enforcement Agencies

- Requests from civil authorities for non-immediate DoD EOD support are subject to approval by the Secretary of Defense. Such as: post-blast analysis, use of DoD material and equipment, and support of pre-planned events.
- The National Joint Operations and Intelligence Center (NJOIC) and the FBI's SIOC shall be advised immediately of the recovery and disposition of military munitions, as well as responses to non-military munitions and explosives. DoD Components shall ensure reports are submitted within 72 hours to U.S. Bomb Data Center.
- Combatant Commanders will coordinate with DoD Explosives Safety Board and the Executive Manager for EOD Training and Technology to ensure information sharing.
- DoD EOD forces will maintain relationships with local, State, tribal, and other Federal bomb disposal and law enforcement agency assets near their geographical locations.
- DoD EOD personnel may conduct UXO and explosive ordnance awareness and education programs that inform and promote public safety of the hazards associated with military munitions and explosive items.
