TRIAD

Small Business Advisory Panel

Brief Overview of TRIAD

The National Defense Industrial Association is hosting the TRI-Association Small Business Advisory Panel (TRIAD) Conference. The TRIAD was formed in 1967 to coordinate the efforts of small business subcontracting representatives. It was formed to serve the best interests of the industry associations and their member companies, affected government agencies, and the small business community.

The meeting provides an opportunity to exchange pertinent information concerning small and diverse business utilization, legislative changes and its impact on government prime contractors. Its mission is to further an open exchange, promoting broad-based government-industry communications, cooperation, and understanding.

Deputy Program Manager,
PMS 406 / PEO LCS

Mr. Berkof was selected in June 2016 as the Deputy Program Manager for the Unmanned Maritime Systems Program Office (PMS 406) within the Program Executive Office for Littoral Combat Ship (LCS). The recently created program office is a merger of the Remote Minehunting System Program Office (PMS 403), which Howard served as the Deputy Program Manager since October 2015, and the previous PMS 406 program office. Howard is responsible for all planning, management, and integration of full scale development, test, procurement, installation, and life cycle support activities for numerous ACAT (I, II, and III) and non-ACAT unmanned platform and payload programs. Howard provides close oversight of multiple major contractors, warfare centers, and supervises a team of civilians and contractor support personnel.

Mr. Berkof began his career with Ingersoll-Rand as a District Sales Manager with the Tool & Hoist Division. Howard was responsible for sales & marketing, distributor management, channel development, product training, and technical support for multi-million dollar sales territories.

Mr. Berkof entered government service in 2007 as the Science & Technology (S&T) Project Manager for the United States Navy's Unmanned Maritime Systems Program Office. Howard served as the Unmanned Surface Vehicles (USV) Assistant Program Manager (APM) from 2009 to 2011 where he was responsible for the development and integration of the Mine Countermeasures (MCM) USV that will be deployed from LCS.

Mr. Berkof served a one year assignment from 2011 to 2012 at the Pentagon, working as a Senior Requirements Analyst for the Expeditionary Warfare Division (N95) for the Chief of Naval Operations (CNO). In his role, Howard supported the Mine Warfare Branch responsible for establishing requirements and applying resources to programs that address the Navy's mine warfare needs.

Mr. Berkof holds an MBA from Harvard Business School and a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering with a minor in Engineering Leadership Development from the Pennsylvania State University. Howard has been an active volunteer in ASME for over 20 years, first as a student leader, and then as a professional leader on the local, regional, and national levels. In 2005, Howard was named the Old Guard Young Engineer of the Year by ASME and in 2008, he was honored with ASME's Distinguished Service Award.

Howard, his wife Lauren Rathmann, and 5 year old daughter Charlotte, reside in Derwood, MD.

On Jan. 20, 2017, Ms. Allison F. Stiller began performing the duties of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Research Development & Acquisition (ASN(RDA)). Ms. Stiller also serves as the Principal Civilian Deputy, ASN(RDA).

Her responsibilities include oversight and policy for Navy and Marine Corps research, development, and acquisition programs for shipbuilding, aviation, space, weapon systems, and communication systems. This portfolio includes oversight of more than 100,000 people and an annual budget in excess of $50 billion as well as hundreds of technical developments and procurement programs for the Department of the Navy.

Ms. Stiller also leads the Department's Senior Executive Acquisition Corps.

Ms. Stiller entered the Senior Executive Service in January 2004. She has spent over 25 years in the Department of Defense's acquisition community. Prior to her current position, Ms. Stiller served as the Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Ship Programs. In this capacity, she was responsible for executive oversight of all naval shipbuilding and associated weapon systems programs, major ship conversions, and nuclear ship refuelings, as well as the maintenance, modernization and disposal of in-service ships.

Ms. Stiller has served in a number of shipbuilding acquisition positions throughout her career where she led in the development and procurement of complex ship programs in multiple phases of the acquisition life cycle. She served for four years as the Deputy Program Manager in the Amphibious Warfare Program Office, responsible for design, development, acquisition, and fleet introduction of amphibious ships and landing craft. She supervised over 40 individuals and managed four acquisition programs with a total value of $16B. Ms. Stiller also served as Director for Naval and Commercial Construction in the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Ship Programs where her responsibilities included oversight of amphibious and auxiliary ship construction and conversion programs, as well as shipbuilding industrial base matters. During her tenure, Ms. Stiller helped develop and promote initiatives that focused the nation's shipbuilding industry towards commercial viability. Ms. Stiller also served as Acquisition Manager in the early phases of the Virginia Class Submarine Program, as well as division director in the SEAWOLF Submarine program during the design and early construction phases of that program.

Ms. Stiller holds a BS in Systems Engineering from the University of Virginia and a MS in Engineering Management from Virginia Tech. She is also a graduate of the JFK School of Government's Senior Executive Fellows Program at Harvard University and the Defense Systems Management College.

Throughout her career, Ms. Stiller's leadership and performance has been recognized by numerous awards including the Presidential Rank Award (Distinguished and Meritorious) and the Department of the Navy's Superior and Meritorious Civilian Service awards.

Ms. Stiller is also the proud ship sponsor for USS MISSISSIPPI (SSN 782).

Mr. Bradley Taylor
Assistant Director, Secretary
of the Navy's Office of Small Business Programs

Mr. Taylor is currently the Assistant Director, Secretary of the Navy's Office of Small Business Programs, located in Washington, DC, and to foster industry innovation, technology development and the acquisition of quality products, services and solutions to support the needs of our Sailors and Marines. He also serves as the Navy's Subcontracting Program Manager and is the Small Business Program's principal advisor to the Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Acquisition and Procurement.

Mr. Taylor began his federal career as a licensed Civil Service Mariner with the Military Sealift Command (MSC) in 1978 and later transferred to a shore-side position in MSC's Tanker Operations Division, located in Washington, DC, where he was responsible for vessel operations in support of Department of Defense (DoD) petroleum requirements and the Department of Energy's Strategic Petroleum Reserves.

In 1984, he joined MSC's Chartering Division where he became a Supervisory Contracting Officer with an Unlimited Warrant responsible for a myriad of highly visible sealift charters to fulfill DoD special mission and ocean transportation requirements worldwide. In this position, Mr. Taylor became DAWIA Level III Certified and a member of the DON Acquisition Professional Community. In recognition of his contracting and operational expertise, Mr. Taylor was assigned to MSC's Special Programs and Acquisition Re-engineering Division in 2000 and was responsible for the analysis and improvement of MSC contracting processes worldwide, including those related to ship repair and conversion, vessel charters, ship operations, services and supplies.

Mr. Taylor served as MSC's Director for Business Development from 2004 to 2006, where he actively led multi-functional project and technical teams to plan, develop and implement innovative and cost effective maritime solutions to complex requirements and enhance small business participation in support of the Command's mission. From 2006 to 2013, Mr. Taylor served as the Director of MSC's Office of Small Business Programs and was highly successful in creating, managing, and implementing strategies to optimize small business opportunities as evidenced by MSC winning the FY07 Secretary's Cup Award for Outstanding Small Business Program and the FY10 SECNAV Acquisition Excellence Director's Award.

Having received numerous awards throughout his career, the most notable occurred in April 2013 when the Secretary of the Navy presented Mr. Taylor with the Navy Meritorious Civilian Service Award for supporting the mission of the Military Sealift Command for 35 years in multiple capacities by specifically recognizing his experience, wisdom and leadership skills that shaped MSC's small business program into an award winning and highly respected model program. Mr. Taylor was previously recognized by the Secretary of Navy when he received the Navy Unit Commendation Award for his efforts during Operation Desert Storm for helping to deliver 76 million square feet of combat vehicles, supplies and ammunition and more than seven billion gallons of fuel to U.S. and coalition war fighters involved in the Global War on Terrorism.

Mr. Taylor earned a Bachelor's Degree from the State University of New York Maritime College and sailed as a USCG Licensed Third Officer in the Merchant Marine. Mr. Taylor is an Ordained Permanent Deacon in the Catholic Church and he and his wife, Jaynie, reside on Maryland's beautiful Eastern Shore.
